NO SUNDAY RACE MEETS

LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WHEELMEN PUTS ITSELF ON RECORD.

Proposition to Amend the Constitution and Sanction Sunday Racing Defeated by a Vote of 161 to 17.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 12. - What the League of American Wheelmen, in annual convention, to-day declined to do was of equal importance, of not greater than those things it did. It declined to allow professionals, no matter of what standing, to either full or associate membership in the league. It refused to allow the assembly at its meetings to select the city for the annual meets. It declined by a heavy vote to allow local option for Sunday racing. It declined to cut off the club initiation fee of $2 or allow consuls to pass upon racing boards' suspensions. It declined to amend at all the section of the constitution that provides only for amateur riders and draws the color line. It declined to offer a salary for the racing committee. The things it did were to divide the league into consulates of twenty-five clubs each, allowing amateurs to exchange their prizes for anything but cash, increasing the bond of the secretary to $10,000 and that of the treasurer to $15,000, and placing road racing under the espionage of the racing board.

At the Assembly's morning session the convention rejected the amendment proposed by Mr. Brock, that no member shall be expelled or deprived of any of the benefits of the league without the sanction of the chief consuls, thus reducing the powers of the racing board. Another proposed amendment rejected was for the repeal of the provision in Article VIII requiring a league club to pay $2 upon joining the league. A motion that local option be given divisions to control their own representation on the State board, not to af fect the national board, was adopted. Mr. Welch, of California, moved to amend Ar-RICHMOND, Ind., Feb. 12.-W. G. Hites, ticle V by striking out the words "league club" and allow any cycling club to be represented on the national board. This was amended so that each division may determine the number of members of a club necessary to entitle it to representation on ber of President-elect McKinley's regiment the State board. An amendment was during the late war. of exchanging prizes so long as they do not convert them into cash.

Secretary Bassett's proposed amendment, making colored men eligible to membership n the league, was defeated-153 to 100 Two-thirds is required for the adoption of any amendment. The proposition to admit professional riders to associate membership in the L. A. W. was defeated by an overwhelming vote. E. W. Robert, of Missouri, proposed an amendment providing that the racing board provide amateur and professional hampion events at the league meet the races to be the same in number, etc. Mr. Welch, of north California, moved to take up and adopt the amendment of W. S. Roberts to add to Article IV. Section 7.

that the racing board shall grant sanctions for race meetings to be held on Sunday in divisions where the board of officers of the divisions shall adopt a resolution permitting the same, the resolution to be subject to revocation at any time by the board of officers filing the same. Mr. Welch said that in California Saturday was the busiest day of the week and Sunday was the only day at liberty to the masses for enjoyment Other amusements were sanctioned, and

A. E. Dunn, of Philadelphia, thought that t was a dangerous question to handle. wisest thing that the convention could do was to keep as far away from the danger as possible, and thus be on the safe side. If this amendment is adopted an explosion of some sort will surely follow.

E. W. Hartwell, of Denver, favored the amendment. He did not believe that if the league sanctioned Sunday racing it would reflect on the league. It was merely a local question, and the different sections of the league would take the responsibility. J. Kerrigan, of California, argued that as many as 25,000 or 30,000 people were drawn to ball games and balloon ascensions in his State on Sundays, while on other days it was hard to get 500 people. Sunday was the only day that paying audiences could be obtained for wheel meets. The fact was that the granting of this local option would cast the onus of holding Sunday racing upon the various State leagues, and that would not hurt the American League. There were road races every Sunday, even in the East, and the league did not object to that. The theaters were open in California, and so were the saloons, and there is no reason why the race tracks should not be. A. C. Willis, of Maryland, spoke in favor of the amendment. He believed that this was not a State's rights question when a general permission to do racing was granted under which every State could do as it pleased. As to the morality of the subject he believed that Sunday racing in California would mean a drawing away from disreputable sports to a reputable one. J. B. Townsend, of New York, said it was not a question of morality or sentiment: it was merely a question of business, and i would be very bad business to drive out those people of moral sense who might object. It would hurt the league in every section of the East.

After further discussion the proposition was rejected-161 to 17. D. W. Jenkins moved to have a regular salary attached to the office of chairman of the racing board. This was lost by a vote of 139 to 82. Amendments to the by-laws were adopted increasing the bonds of the secretary to $10,000 and the treasurer to $15,000. A motion to allow the annual assembly to select the meet place instead of the executive committee was defeated. A resolution was adopted placing road races by L. A. W. members under the jurisdiction of the racing board, for the avowed purpose of aiding the Century Road Club n purifying road races.

Forty or More Philippine Islanders Executed by General Polavieja.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 12.-The teamer Empress of China, just arrived from the Orient, brought advices as follows: Information obtainable about the Philippine rebellion is not of a satisfactory nature and there is evidence of the work of censor on the face of all of it. Spanish troops are still pouring into Manilla from Europe about 1,200 per steamer. There must be between 12,000 and 20,000 in the Philippines at the present moment. The fighting has been chiefly in the province of Bulucan and nothing but Spanish success is heard of. Under date of Jan. 4 the following advices have been received. Since the arrival of Governor General Polavieja some forty or fifty rebels have been shot at Manilla, including the notable Dr. Rizal. He died very bravely, if somewhat theatrically, dressing himself in his best for the occasion. He wished to have his face to the firing party, but this was not allowed. He pression here is that it was altogether a mistake on the part of the authorities to deal with him as with a rebel. It is generally thought he was more a patriot than a rebel. arriving from Spain are a poor looking lot, evidently fresh from the plow, and many seem never to have handled weapons before. It is reported that 150 of them are under arrest for refusing to go to the front and fight. town Damaged $100,000. OTTAWA, Ontario, Feb. 12.-The Western department building suffered damage to the extent of $100,000 by fire which, starting about 5 o'clock last evening, burned until after midnight. The upper floors, with the Mansard roof, were burned out, but the main offices, on the second and third floors, are all safe, the fire not having got through the concrete floor, but much damage has been done by water. None of the important departmental documents have been destroyed, although batch of ante-confederations records gone. The offices destroyed are those of the public works department, the marine and fisheries, and the mounted police. The fire brigade had very little effect on the flames, which spread slowly, but steadily, along the fated building. Lack of pressure, bad hose, frozen hydrants and a variety of causes contributed to the poor work of the brigade. At 3 o'clock this morning an engine and fifteen men from Montreal ar-

The Millers' Company is as much interested in good insurance laws in this State as Mr. Finch or any other citizen, and for that reason feels that the quotation as given was an injustice to it, as well as to Mr. Finch. The commercial bills now pending before the Legisla ture are divided as to stock and mutual companies, and the provisions of one will not affect the provisions of the other, Therefore the amendment, which is deemed advisable to the mutual bill, can in no wise affect the charter of the Union or any other similar special charter.

that these gentlemen are taxpayers and it is their preregative to vote in whatever direction they think best. The antagonistic spirit is instigated principally by the negro pulpit and a few of our school teachers. They are looking too much at the immediate benefits they may derive from the separate school system and not to the future welfare of the race. The pulpit's taxes are but a diminutive part of the total amount of negro taxes. Their principal interest is the small salary which they receive. They advance the theory that if the bill is passed a great number of the colored teachers will lose their positions. This is not the purpose of the bill. It simply places the school system in the same condition it was before the administration of the present uperintendent. The article goes on to say that ter. The second son died about two years | the Arnette law of Ohio drove out the brainy colored teachers from the schoolroom. Now, if he thinks that all the brain of the race is embodied in the few short-sighted school teachers, let it go at that. This agitation does not come from intelligent, but from the ignorant portion of the colored citizens. The voters and taxpayers demand the passage of this bill. He says he is not a school teacher himself. Maybe he, like many of the teachers to-day, is incompetent. There were no objections to the passage of the civil rights bill, which procured for us equal rights in public places; why should there be op-position to the Jones bill, that is to give our children the privilege of the public schools? We try to prosecute the proprietors if they prohibit us from entering their hotels, restaurants and even saloons, yet we advocate the exclusion of our children, the future men and women of the race, from the public schools. Bah! I would rather be a dead dog than a live snake. Indianapois, Feb. 12. G. J. DAWSON.

The Street-Railroad Franchise.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: I have no disposition to discuss in the newspapers the policy that should be pursued by the city with reference to the street-railway; I think it is important that we should know just what the New bill, now pending in the Legislature, is, in order that we may intelligently determine whether we are for it or against it. In an editorial yesterday morning the Journal says: "The chief lament of the company's spokesman is that in 1901 its property will be taken from it by forced sales. There is nothing in this. A fair valuation of the property will doubtless wring some of the water out or it, but the real value of its property will be greater in look than it is now, because of the growth of the city and the improvements in the methods of operating street-railways." that be true, if the street-railway property will be worth more in 1901 than it is now to the company that owns it, it must be because, for the reasons you state, it will sell for more or bring in a larger income in 1901 than now, by reason of increased business and the introduction of economical appliances. Is not this only another way of saying that the franchise to use this property in the streets will be worth more in 1901 than it is now? If this is true why should the city be deprived of this increased value in the franchise by confirming a contract made with the City Company in 1853? It has been said that is the effect of the bill. If there is any provision in it opening the franchise to competition in 1901-unless the City Company voluntarily throws up its contract-won't you please quote it? If there is any way by which any other company than the City Company can take it, order the bill, please quote the pro-visions of the bill that provide for that. Again

"If any existing corporation does not pay the Citizens' Company the price fixed by a disinterested and intelligent tribunal, then it can reorganize and purchase back its own property at Will you please quote from the bill the vision upon which you base this state nent? is said that there is no chance offered to the Citizens' Street-railroad Company, nor to any other company that might be organized by our citizens, to compete with the City Company, in 1901, for a franchise to operate street-railways in the city of Indianapolis. If there is anything in the bill that provides for such competition

The long-looked-for Bradley-Martin ball, which was given in New York last night, was not different from other quasi-private functions of the kind except in the lavish show of wealth, which had apparently inspired it. Exceptions to the Law.

Advocates of an anti-spitting ordinance can perhaps get some light from the experiences of Sacramento, where such a law is in force. A clergyman recently had to clear his throat of phiegm on the street, and was at once rushed to the police station by a zealous officer. On the way he saw a man deluge a shop window with tobaco juice, and he called the attention of his captor to the fact. "Oh, come ahn, aid the officer; "he's a ripresentative."
